The New Travel Ban

- What is the scope of the ban?
- Which countries are covered?
- What are the restrictions?
- What are the exemptions?
- Is there a waiver for affected nationals who do not meet an exemption?
- When does the ban go into effect?
- What legal authorities were cited?
- What happens next?

What is the scope of the ban?

- Outside the United States on the applicable effective date
- Do not have a valid visa on the applicable effective date
- Do not qualify for a visa or other valid travel document (based on a visa revoked or cancelled visa due to the first Executive Order)

Which countries are covered?

- Chad
- Libya
- Iran
- North Korea
- Somalia
- Syria
- Venezuela
- Yemen

What are the restrictions? How long?

- Chad, Libya and Yemen: all immigrants and those entering as tourists or business travelers
- Iran: all immigrants and nonimmigrants, EXCEPT F, J and M visa holders (extra scrutiny)
- North Korea and Syria: all immigrants and nonimmigrants
- Somalia: immigrants (and nonimmigrants subject to extra scrutiny)
- Venezuela: certain government officials and their family members

What are the exemptions? (Sampling)

- Lawful Permanent Residents.
- Dual nationals.
- Those granted asylum, admitted as a refugee; or granted withholding of removal.
- Those traveling on a diplomatic or similar visa.
- Those in the U.S. on the effective date.
- Those who had a valid visa on the effective date.

Is there a waiver for affected nationals?

- Denying entry would cause the foreign national undue hardship
- Entry would not pose a threat to national security or public safety, AND
- Would be in the national interest

*10 Examples

When does the Ban Go Into Effect?

- Five countries covered by EO2 lacking a bona fide relationship with a person or entity (Sudan excluded): 3:30pm on September 24
- Those covered by the NEW Proclamation (8 countries) (regardless of bona fide relationship): 12:01AM on October 18

What Legal Authorities were cited?

- INA § 212(f)
- INA § 215(a)
- 3 USC § 301

What Happens Next?

- The Supreme Court has cancelled oral arguments in connection with the second ban
- The parties have to file papers by October 5 on the impact of the Proclamation on the Supreme Court case
- Uncertain how the Supreme Court will decide- We need more crystal balls
- In the meantime, many questions from affected individuals
